Presentation	T: What words are called synonyms?
and Practice	Synonyms are words with the same or similar meanings
	And now I suggest you to remember the difference between the following words:
	A job, a work, an occupation, a profession, a career
	— Your job is the work that you do regularly in order to earn money, especially when you work for a company or public organization; Work is used in a more general way to talk about activities that you do to earn money, either working for a company or for you do to early money, entirel working for a company of for yourself;
	— We use occupation to talk about the kind of work that someone usually does. Occupation is used mainly on official forms;
	— A profession is a kind of work for which you need special training and a good education;
	— Your career is the type of work that you do or hope to do for most of your life
	And now let's do an exercise with these words.
	1.My last job was with a computer firm.
	2.He finally got a job in a supermarket.
	3.1 started work when I was 18.
	4. State your name, age, occupation in the box below.
	5. The legal profession . I am interested in a career in television.
	6. His career is more important to him than his family.

4.) Read and guess the jobs of the people (see pages 61-62). Speaker A (Andy): This isn't the job for someone who likes routine, because you never know what the next day is going to be like. This suits me, because I don't like to plan far in advance anyway. Every day is d i f f e r e n t, and every day involves meeting new people. My problem is that I quickly get bored, so it's good for me to have a job that gets me out and about. To do this job, you have to be a communicative person and be able to talk with anybody, because you meet all sorts of people. And you have to be spontaneous and react to the moment as it comes. I don't think I could stand a job where you sit in an office all day. I like to be where the action is. Speaker B (Linda) When I tell people what my job is they say it must be very difficult and depressing but I don't think so. I think it's a wonderful job. People say that it must involve a lot of personal sacrifice, I mean, there are all sorts of things that you have to do that most people wouldn't like to do, but personally I don't see it this way at all. In fact, I think I'm being selfish, because I'm doing what I want to do. I've always liked helping others. It gives me a good feeling and a sense of purpose. What amazes me is the sense of optimism my patients have. We have fun together and play games together. And, unlike in other jobs, you don t have to put on an act. I used to feel sorry for such people before I got this job, but not any more. I wouldn't change my job for the world. Post reading 1)accounting T:Well done. village people no not those much would come out and start the red tractor everyone loved the tractor and powerful noises it would make they would cheer for the big red tractor because he would help them trough plowing season .The people work together to move the tractor half of the villages would push from behind while the other half pull they have been doing it this way for many generations. Some days one days they move the tractor ten feet, some days they moved to 20 they did this for three whole months every year because of their hard work the villagers always managed to plow the field just in time to plant and just before the rainy season the rains would come to water the field then the Sun would come out to make the crops grow and then the people would come out and harvest all the new crops it was just enough food to feed the entire village one day farmer Dave was cleaning out his attic to his surprise he found an old book tucked beneath his great Grandpa's belongings it was the owner's manual - the big red tractor this book told about how the tractor was made and all the great things it could do farmer Dave studied the book all I he was shocked by what he was reading according to the book if the big red tractor was running properly it could plow the whole field in just one day early the next morning farmer Dave gathered the villagers to tell them the good news but nobody believed him there's no way that tractor can move on its own some said one lady said it sounds like you're reading a fairy tale the people laughed at him this made farmer Dave very sad this didn't stop farmer Dave from believing what he read every night while the other villagers were asleep farmer Dave spent time repairing the big red tractor one night farmer Dave fix the tractor completely he jumped on the tractor and had so much fun driving it he ended up plowing the whole field in one night the next morning the villagers woke up and were in shock the whole field had been plowed it's a miracle one man said maybe aliens came down said an old woman no look over there a little boy shouting it was farmer Dave sleeping it was then the people shouted he was right the tractor book is true the villagers ended up plowing many fields that year and harvesting way more food than they could ever eat they had so many leftover boxes of food that they began taking the boxes to other villages where food was scarce the big red tractor in his little village soon became famous throughout the land they became known as the most generous and life-giving people in the whole wide World.
